Now this is the case with numberless farmers, as well as with men of other callings. They get hold of some hobby, and they get all absorbed with it and lose sight entirely of the main businees of their lives. They neglect great interest for the sake of somelight, attractive employment, which at best is ephemeral. All over the country we find men who are partly farmers and partly implement agents, or stock-buying agents, or perhaps Bible or other book agents, and always, when we find such men, we find that they are not severy successful in his garden."

Tex drops of ammonia to a pint of water.

Tex drops of ammonia to a pint of water is enough for the ordinary washing of the skin of the head, and is a sufficient dressing, used once a week, provided the subject is in a natural and healthy condition. But it will not cure weakness caused by illness, nor the dry rot which makes the hair fall out. The best way is to let it come out, and as a dressing, twice or three times a week, use a preparation made according to the following formula: A teaspoonful of powdered borax, a teaspoonful of ammonia, two of pure glycerine, in half a pint of good bay rum. Shake this such men, we find that they are not good bay rum. Shake this good farmers, nor are they first-class agents. The Senatorial Contest. The Senatorial bone is still being vigorously gnawed by the watch-dogs posted on the Republican battlements. The Detroit Tribune leads the attack upon CHANDLER, and begs lustily and long, while the Post sits at the door of the stronghold, growls at the approach of every footstep, and lets not even a whisper of disloyalty, disaffection, or disatisfaction, escape rebuke and condemnation. The Republican press of the State mainly "fights mit CHAND-LER," and sees no spot or blemish upon his fair name. And yet there are signs of opposition, of protest against ownership, of restiveness under the party lash. This opposition is stimulated by the utterances of leading Republican journals of other States, which utterances lies, with a "mind your own business." While there is a strong Republican feeling of dislike to the return of Senator CHANDLER for a fourth term, it cannot be disguised that he has the inside track, and that in all human probability he will be the caucus nominee; and as the caucus nominee will claim the support of every party man and can easily secure a re-election. We are led to this conclusion from the fact that we recognize no leader of men among the anti-CHANDLER Republicans, no concentration of preference in favor of any Republican opponent.

I desire to be allowed a few words of expla nation in your columns, as to the abuse which the editor of the Courier took the unjustifiable liberty of throwing upon me, in his last issue, about a somewhat recent decision of the Supreme Court of the U.S.

On the 9th of Nov. there were filed in that the duty of the Democrats to aid the Court in Washington, the following short synopses of these decisions, which were published in the Detroit Post, on the 10th-the next day after filing-under the head of Washington

In the Supreme Court the case of the Home Insurance Company vs. Morse and another, error to Supreme Court of Wisconsin, was taken up. In this case the Home Insurance Company, of New York, compled in writing with the statutes of Wisconsin, by which, among other things, it agreed not to remove any case compand agreed in the State. any case commenced against it in the State Court to the Federal Court, but on the commencement of the present case it nevertheless moved for a transfer to the Federal Court. On Saturday, the 7th of Dec., the Evening News published a synopsis of the last, or "cotcurrent news of the day, it looked to me, and, no doubt would to the people generally, that if one was given the other should have been given also, whereupon I wrote to the editor of the News, and requested the first or restrains case to be also published. For this, the editor of the Courier runs on with a triade of abuse against me, claiming that I desired unjust and reasonable advantages over him, otherwise I "would not have felt the necessity of making an argument," apparently forgetting that he had published in the summer past, with a flourish of trumpets, the decision of the same A Visit to Look Out Mountain and the boat case," which he considered as helping his side of the question in our controversy; but the above "insurance case," not favoring his side, he did not choose to publish it; yet all these things in the eyes of the editor of the Courier leave me no reason why I should desire "to make an argument," as he terms it, bserved, three years after the first contract rould have expired.

This contract was held void by the State Courts, as against public policy, but on an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, it was reversed, held good, from the fact that each corporation was a citizen of a different State or Ferritory; and as it had reference to only one contract to each other, nor would they have to change their citizenship to carry on their business—but even in this case the extra three years, against the last named company, was not held good, because it would do the plaintiff —the Oregon company—no good after the remaining seven years of their contract with the California company had expired—the Courts always holding that a party must not cover more time or territory, than is necessary for his prefetchion.

versy about; and to show whether he has any reasonable ground for his belief, I must give an incident in relation to what one of the Dewould do itself no credit by making a man of such narrow views or lack of culture either Senator or its candidate. Collegiate education is not necessary tofit a man for the Senate, but if CHAMBER-LAIN has not been misrepresented he has failed out of college to fit himself for so high a position. Let complimentary votes be avoided, and a candidate nominated and votedfor whom the party would be proud to elect.

As the Democrats cannot elect without Republican aid, we repeat the ad-bable reason why this gentleman was not con-tinued as counsel in the case; but it makes no difference, the general opinion of lawyers everywhere, the feed ones of Ann Arbor ex-cepted, that a contract in restraint of trade, covering the whole State cannot be maintam-covering the whole State cannot be maintained.

Now the people can judge understandingly whether he has any reason to couplain of my request to the Evening News to publish that decision, and they will also be able to judge if he has any "substantial" reason for his bombastic assurance of success—but, rather on the other hand, it the company, at least, has not a good foundation for damages?

It must not be supposed that this is done for the purpose of influencing the Court, before which the controversy is now pending, as instructions had been given before writing to the editor of the News, for counsel to take the necessary legal steps to bring this decision to the attention of the Judges; and if the proper papers have not been already delivered, they will be in a day or two.

I will close the "argument" as nearly in his own words as possible: "But we cannot help saying that we do not believe that" the court will decide this case contrary to all the "law on the statute books," and contrary to all the "revious decisions, everywhere, "that will deprive a person of any one of his substantial rights, for which" no "fair equivalent" was ever "given," and to which the title is" not "good." But, if the court shall see fit to make a "new departure" (wherein his friend, the Detroit lawyer, considered the difficulty would lay), and to begin it upon me, I shall probably make as little complaint as most persons would.

Fair play being a jewel that the weak side cannot see a reason for using or allowing to be used by its opponents.

To be sure, I might have foregone the "argument" from the fact that even the California case, when analyzed even "by a distinguished medical man of this county, who knows just about as much about law and common sense (the italics are his own) as a dog does about his father," is seen to be wholly against him. The facts were as follows: A steamboat company owning a number of steamboats, and persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Ann Arbor, in said county, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed: And it is further ordered that said Executrix give notice to the persons interested in and estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Michigan Argus, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

I pace the leafy colonnade, Where level branches of the plane Above me weave a roof of shade Impervious to the sun and rain.

At times a sudden rush of air Finters the lazy leaves o'crhead, And gleams of sunshine toss and flare Like torches down the path I tread.

By Somarlya's garden gate
I make the morble stairs my seat,
And hear the water, as I wait,
Lapping the steps beneath my feet.

The undulation sinks and swells Along the stony parapets, And far away the floating bells Tinkle upon the fisher's nets.

Silent and slow, by tower and town The freighted barges come and go, Their pendant shadows plding down By town and tower submerged below. The hills sweep upward from the shore, With vills scattered one by one; Upon their wooded spurs, and lower Bellargio blazing in the sun.

And dimly seen, a tangled mass Of walls and woods, of light and shade, Stands beckening up the Stelvio Pass Varenna with its white cascade.

THE PIANO-HARP Cabinet Organ. Patented December, 1874.

A new and beautiful musical instrument—or improvement upon the Cabinet Organ—being a combination of the pianoforie and organ. To a complete Five-Octave Double-Reed Organ is added a Piano-Harp, the tones of which are between those of the pianoforie and harp. It has a pianoforie action, is played by the same keys with the organ, and may be used separately or with one or all the stops of the organ. It is not liable to get out of order, and does not require tuning. Having theroughly tested this beautiful improvement, we offer it with great confidence to the public. Price of PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN, being a Five-Octave Device. A new and beautiful musical instrument—or im TAVE DOUBLE-REED ORGAN, SIX STOPS; WITH VOX HUMARA, AUTOMATIC SWELL, KNEE SWELL and PIANO-HARP, three and a half octaves; in Elegant Upright Resonant Case, $200. Consumption for Ten Years Cured. Consumption for Ten Years Cured.

DR. L. Q. C. Wiehart: Dear Sir-I am grateful to you from the fact that you have made a medicine that will cure the disease of the Lungs. My wife has had the Consumption for ten years. Physicias had told me that they could only patch her up for the time being. She was confued to her bed and had been for some time. I heard of your Pine Tree Tar Cordial and secured one bottle; it refleved her cough. She has now finished the fourth bottle, and is able to do the work for her family; and may God speed you on with your great discovery and cure you have made for Consumption.

DR. Wishar, Philadelphia, some three years ago, I was suffering from a severe cold, and was induced to take a bottle of your Pine Tree Tar Cordial, which had the effect of curing me in a few days. I hav used it in my family ever since, and am of the opinion that it saved the life of my daughter, who was suffering from a severe and painful cough. I the publication of this will be of any service, you are at liberty to use it. Yours respectfully,
