ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1877. VOLUME XXXII.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

I've wandered in the village, Tom,
I've sat beneath the tree
Upon the school-house play-ground,
Which sheltered you and me.
But none were there to greet me, Tom,
And few were left to know
That played with us upon the green,
Some twenty years ago.

The green is just as green, Tem—Barefooted boys at play
Were specting, just as we did then,"
With spirits just as gay;
But the master sleeps upon the hill,
Which, costed o'er with snow,
Afforded us a sliding-place,
Just twenty years ago,

The old school-house is altered now, The benches are replaced By new ones, very like the same Our pen-knife laid defaced; But the same old bricks are in the walls,

The spring that bubbled 'neath the hill, Close by the spreading beech, Is very low—'twas once so high, That we could almost reach? And kneeling down to get a drink, Dear Ton, I started so, To see how much that I find chaliged, Since twelthy years 190.

Near by the spring, upon the elm,
You know I cut your name—
Your sweetheart's just beneath it, Tom,
And you did mine the same.
Some heartless wretch hath peeled the bark,
'Twas dying, sure, but slow,
Just as the one whose name we cut,
Died twenty years ago.

Some twenty years ago.

Some are in the churchyard laid,
Some sleep beneath the sea—
But few are left of our old class
Excepting you and me;
And when our time shall come, Tom,
And we are cathed to go,
I hope they'll lay us where we played,
Just twenty years ago.

Miss Barton has taken part. A Screw in the Lungs.

We came into possession a few days since of some facts illustrating a most wonderful and remarkable case, and one that has few if any parallels in this region of the State, and which we give to our readers, vouching for its correctness. In the Smith's Grove region there lives the family of Mr. W. J. Dickerson, a the county. In the family there is a bright little boy 9 years old, named James. Last August he and his mother were paring apples for drying purposes with an ordinary machine used for that purpose. A three-eighths inch screw dropped from the machine, and James, child-like, put the screw in his mouth and accidentally sucked it down his windpipe, Violent coughing followed without ejecting the screw. On Sept. 1 the little boy was taken to his bed, first with chills and fever. This was followed by intermittent fever, which in turn was succeeded by pneumonia, and constant coughing, with expectoration from the right lung. The sufferer continued to grow worse, until in spite of the best medical treatment and appliances he wasted away to almost a skeleton from what he had been. Death seemedi evitable and near at hand. Suddenly! iere ensued a violent jerking cough, and the sition of the paste. iron screw was ejected from the right lung, where it had been since he swallowed it, over five months ago. Proper restoratives were given, and the little fellow has been steadily improving and

A discouraged correspondent inquires whether in our opinion it will ever again be worth while for the democrats to contest a national campaign. We reply in brief for the present, that the result of the presidential controversy is morally certain to induce Republican demoralization, and not Democratic. The Democracy have proved their strength; the country believes that they fairly their president, and have been defrauded of their rightful victory. Under these circumstances we believe that popular sentiment will now more than ever favor our side; while every one of the crimes and outrages perpetrated by the Republican party against popular rights furnishes a new incentive to Democrats to keep up the struggle. The great issue for the next four years to come will be Shall fraud be condemned or indorsed Shall the Democratic ballot box be subverted by the Republican Returning Board? "Go in and Holler, Then."

At a recent meeting of the Detroit Temperance Reform Club, one of the speakers explained the cause of his presnce by relating the following incident When Phil Sheridan was riding down progress of Early and his men he met a soldier on the retreat and asked him why he was going to the rear. The private answered that his musket would not go off. "Go in and holler, then," said the General. At this juncture some one in the rear of the hall near the door did 'holler" "Fire!" In an instant the vast audience were upon their feet and a rush for the door was instituted. eral gentlemen upon the stage tried to quiet the fears of the people, but without avail, and for a few seconds it seemed as though a terrible stampede would ensue. At this critical period President Duffield leaped from the private box in which he was seated to the stage, and, with a nod to the choir and organist, asked them to lead the audience in singing "Hold the Fort." Without prelude and hardly waiting for the key note the choir began, and the audience joined in loud voices singing the glorious hymn. The first strain had not been finished before the frightened persons paused, and soon all evidence of alarm had subsided in an apparent general desire to join, being here on a visit; they come from heart and soul, in the singing. The only rule in arithmetic that hits their case is the double rule of two. They are as full of old Nick as their skin can hold, and they would die if they couldn't torment somebody. When they try to be mean they are as mean as parsley, though they ain't as mean as they let on, except some times, and then they are a good deal spring's work as soon as the weather becomes warm enough, and then put your meaner. The only way to get along with a girl when she gets at you with her nonsense is to give her tit for tat, and in that; but the stranger's countenance that will flummux her; and when you get a girl flummuxed she is as nice as a greatly pleased as he remarked: new pin. A girl can sow more wild oats in a day than a boy can sow in a year, but girls get their wild oats sowed after a while, which boys never do, and then they settle down as calm and placid as a mud puddle. But I like girls first-rate, and I guess the boys all do. I don't care how many tricks they play on me, and they don't care either. The hoity-toitiest girls in the world can't always boil over like a glass of soda. By-and-by they will get into the traces with somepody they like, and pull as steady as an old stage horse. That is the beauty of them. So let them wave, I say; they will pay for it some day, sewing on but-tons and trying to make a decent man of the feller they have spliced on to, and when in San Francisco, Raymond met ten chances to one if they don't get the Maurice Grau on the street, and they worst of it. untiving industry is shown by the example of a young man of San Francisco. He went to Virginia City, represented and put down head. Raymond matched the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and Mr. Hamilin was assigned to the position. Mr. Ferry was made Chairman of the Postal Committee.
