REVENGE OF RAIN-IN-THE-FACE. BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW. hoist the umbrella.'

In his war-paint and his beads, Like a bison among the reeds, In ambush the Sitting Bull Lay with three thousand brayes Crouched in the clefts and caves, Savage, unmerciful!

Into the fatal snare
The White Chief with yellow hair
And his three hundred men
Dashed headlong, sword in hand;
But of that gallant band
Not one returned again.

The sudden darkness of death Overwhelmed them, like the breath And smoke of a furnace has By the river's bank, and between The rocks of the favine, They lay in their bloody attire.

But the foeman fled in the night, And Rain-in-the-Bace, in his flight, Uplifted high in air As a ghastly trophy bore. The brave heart, that beat no more, Of the White Unier with yellow hair, Whose was the right and the wrong?

They are in no whit different outwardly from the other middle-aged, commonplace folk crowding the cars, equipped with the inevitable linen duster and shawl-straps and sachels. But at heart they are very much like two children who set out to find the tairy pot of gold beneath the rainbow. They meet all the world coming this way, agog to see the Exposition; but they two go leisurely along, with their secret between them. Every trifle is an event, every chance meeting an adventure. They have left office and housekeeping and middle age behind them. It looks to other people like an ordinary railroad on which they travel, but they know that they are on their way to the enchanted land. And, as they come nearer to the quiet hills behind the setting sun where they first knew each other, they are sure that they will find youth and its love and freshness there again, and will bring

Dear Francis: This is kind of you to allow me a word, so soon after leaving my mortal body, you and I having been so long and so intimately acquainted. I need not tell you how wickedly the press has traduced and vilified my life doings, for you no doubt have read it. But, thank God, my friend, you know better than they do the strict and nim of my life. While I was not immaculate, yet if I know my own heart, and I thought I did, it was to better my fellow-man, and no man living knew that fact better than you did. Your friend and brother,

S. S. Jones.

The following communication was then sent him, the object being to find out just how it seems to be transported to nsations when first awakening in spirit life? In response he said: As to that, Francis, it was very like what I communicated this morning. When awakened to consciousness I looked about me and asked myself, "Where am I?" At that moment my son George was standing by me, probably to catch the first word spoken by me, I recognized my son, and he advanced and we embraced as no one but a loving father and son could. I said to George, "Where am I, and what does this mean?" He replied, "Father, you are a spirit!" "Yes," said I; "yes; I now realize it." I looked about me and said to George, "All that has been told me of the summer land is true." Your friend, S. S. Jones.

Yet it will probably be allowed by for-eigners, if not by Frenchmen, that Victor Hugo is the greatest name in the roll of French literary worthies. Other ountries must look back to some distant time to find the singer whom they chiefly above the reach of mortal ambition. Each generation has its favorites, whom new generations may accept or reject, but Shakspeare is always outside the risk of rivalry. In Germany a more recently developed literature finds her chief triumphs in the plays and poems of Goethe, and of his far-reaching tranquil knowledge of men and things. In Italy no fifth name has for centuries been added to those of the four chief poets, and among them Dante holds the chief place, unchallenged and unapproached. France has waited until this century for her poet of widest range, of most pre-cious value, of most musical tongue, a mighty-voiced inventor of harmonic The din of the controversy in which French poetry awakened to a brief life in the restoration has fallen silent, the dust has cleared away, and the renown of Victor Hugo is as solid as his partisans long ago were quarrelsome and noisy. ANN ARBOR. At a late hour a "Citizens' ticket" was put in the field, but the Republicans came off winners as usual, electing their full ticket, as fol-

Clerk, Lorenzo Davis. Treasurer, Nelson Edmunds. Justices of the Peace, John Geddes; to fill vacancy, John C. Bird. of Highways, Warren N. Superintendent of Schools, Emil Bauer.

FREEDOM. As usual the Democrats of Freedom played a "lone hand," and are responsible for the election of the following officers: Supervisor, Jacob Breining. Clerk, J. Frederick Vogel.

Treasurer, John F. Koebbe.
Justice, William Beuerle.
Highway Commissioner, Frederick Breit-Superintendent of Schools, Thomas S. F. inn.
School Inspector, John H. Koebbe.
Constables, Frederick Nichous, Jacob Johns,
Peter Neis, Paul Kress.

The Democrats of this town come out ahead for the first time in a number of years, elect ing their full ticket by majorities ranging from 1 to 20. The following are the officers elect:

Supervisor, Charles Whitaker. Clerk, William Covert. Treasurer, Eugene B. Freer. Justice, George R. Williams. Commissioner of Highways, Charles G. Superintendent of Schools, Marcus S. Cook. School Inspector, Leonard C. Rodman. Constables, Eugene B. Freer, Lloyd Freer, Samson Parker, William Stockford.

LODI. In this town the Democrats had no opposi tion and elected their ticket as follows: Supervisor, Egbert P. Harper.

Clerk, James Sage. Treasurer, Gottlieb Schaible. Justices, Comstock F. Hill; to fill vacancy, Olleton C. Sweetland. Commissioner of Highways, Jacob Jedele. Superintendent of Schools, Frank H. Sweet

School Inspector, Augustine Sage.
Constables, Frederick Segur, John S. Schaible, Michael Greening, George Burrows. But one ticket in the field, and that Democratic. Full vote polled but 127. The officers elect are: Supervisor, Thomas Young. Clerk, Andrew J. Boyce, Treasurer, Parmenius W. Watts. Justice, Walter Webb. Commissioner of Highways, Stephen O.

Superintendent of Schools, John Clark. School Inspector, Henry Gorton. Constables, William Stanfield, Lewis Had-

NORTHFIELD. The Democrats of this town having comcomised their differences, the Republicans did n't venturo to put a ticket in the field. The following officers, all Democrats of course, were elected :

Supervisor, Nathan E. Sutton. Clark, William Walsh. Tressurer, Daniel W. Barry. Justice, Patrick S. Purtell.

Commissioner of Highways, Christian Superintendent of Schools, Eugene Gibney. School Inspector, Joseph Cummiskey.

Constables, George Kempf, George Harr,
James Kennedy, Peter McNatton.

PITTSFIELD.

The Democracy of Pittsfield were unable to break the ranks of their opponents, and the officers elected on Monday are all Republicans, as follows:

Supervisor, Morton F. Case. Clerk, William K. Childs. Treasurer, H. H. Webb. Justices, J. S. Wheelock; to fill vacancy. Nathan Webb Com. of Highways, Frederick Hutzel.

Superintendent of Schools, Robert Camp-School Inspector, Peter Cook.

Constables, E. M. Lytle, Charles Roberts.

It was no 8 to 7 contest in this town, for the Democrats scooped the Republicans, electing every man on the ticket by majorities ranging from 21 to 114, Berdan going under to the tune of 114. The winning candidates were Supervisor, Myron Webb, 114 maj.

Clerk, Charles N. How, 31 maj.
Treasurer, John George Gross, 21 maj.
Justice, Aaron H. Gross, 42 maj.
Commissioner of Highways, John Gordon, Superintendent of Schools, Eugene A. Reynolds, 107 maj. School Inspector, Marshall LeBaron, Drain Commissioner, Daniel Klein, 38 maj.

(No Drain Commissioner to be elected unless there was a vacancy).

Constables, Edwin W. Wallace, 51; William J. Jackson, 54; Nathan Berdine, 31; Hilliam J. Jackson, 54; Nathan Berdine, 54; Hilliam J. Jackson, 54; Hilliam J. Jackson, 54; Hilliam J. Jackson, 54; Hilliam J. Jackson, 54; H

The entire Republican ticket elected, by maorities ranging from 5 to 45, as follows: Supervisor, George S. Wheeler, 43. Clerk, Silas Pratt, 40. Tressurer, Charles P. Walker, 54. Justices, S. Macomber, 5; to fill vacancy, J.

B. Herrick, 45. Commissioner of Highways, W. B. Thomp-

Superintendent of Schools, George S. Wheeler, 125.
School Inspector, Stephen B. Winans, 119. Cooley, Collier, and Maltz had each 52 majority; and there were 163 votes for the Court House loan and 26 against it. SCIO.

In this town the Democracy came near making a clean sweep. There was a little friction n the Republican camp, with two candidates for Supervisor entered (Johnson and Smith, the latter, however, withdrawing before election), making a breach which evidently was not healed. The successful candidates and officers elect are, all being Democratic unless for listening to him whenever the opportunity otherwise noted :

Supervisor, Patrick McGuiness, maj. 233. Supervisor, Patrick accruness, maj. 235.
Clerk, Volney H. Potter, maj. 45.
Treasurer, Jacob Jedele, Jr., maj. 80.

The City Election.

The annual charter election held on Monday was a quiet affair and failed to call out a full vote. Both parties had full tickets in the field. but the figures will show that party lines were not closely drawn, and that from Justice of the Supreme Court way down to Constable the independent voter exercised his inalienable right to cut and carve at pleasure. The tollowing are the official figures as determined by the Council on Tuesday evening:

" Dare to do Right." A State Council of Red Ribbon Men Called to Meet at East Saginaw,

We, the undersigned, a committee appointed by the East Saginaw Reform Club to call a Grand Council, to be composed of delegates from the Reform Clubs in the State, for the purpose of making a State organization, and for mutual consultation and agreement upon some uniform action to advance the cause of temperance and make the reform movement recently inaugurated by Dr. Reynolds a per-manent institution, do hereby call a Grand State Council of the Red Ribbon Order, to be held at the Academy of Music, in the city of East Saginaw, on the 17th day of April, 1877. at 2 o'clock P. M of that day, and for the purposes of representation in said council, have fixed upon the following basis: Two delegates at large from each organized club, and one additional for each one hundred members thereof, and we do hereby cordially invite all the Reform Clubs in the State of Michigan to send delegates to to said council. We also extend an invitation to all our friends of the order, who believe with us in the power of moral suasion to work reform in the temperance cause, and that arguments addressed to the judgment and consciences of men are more powerful for good than legal coercion, and that the trackers movement. coercion, and that the reform movemen ould possess a strictly non-political and non-ctarian character, to meet with us at the time and place for the purposes aforesaid.

All newspapers in the State are invited to publish the foregoing call.

The L'Anse News does not extend a very cordial hand to the legislators who expect to visit the Northern Peninsula in the summer. It says: "They will ceme up here and steal specimens, knock pieces of iron ore down from Norway pines, and gll their bellies full of white fish-which, let us hope, will generate brains enough in some portion of their human forms divine to give them an understanding of the wants of this region, then go back home to deliver lectures to crowds of open mouthed, unkempt, dirty faced swine herders, upon the wonders of an unknown world

But come on, gentlemen, come on ! If Packard has succeeded in making Hayes hesitate, he has triumphed, and that is all there is to be said about it. Grant left matters so that his successor had but to give the word, and the prob lem was solved. To hesitate, to haggle, to compromise-that is the end of all hopes from this administration, and fair notice to the country that it must try again .- Boston Post.
