

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Monday evening next: regular meeting of the Common Council. The Lindsails had a fair house on Wednesday evening, and their acting, as it always is, was good. The burning chimney in the Fifth ward called out the fire department on Saturday night last. On the 2nd inst., the First National Bank commenced paying a semi-annual dividend of six per cent. Annual election of Forest Hill Cemetery next Tuesday, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the store of George Grenville. Colder weather has ruled since the last day of the old year, and there is some hope of improved roads and an ice-crop. Prof. Ingersoll is billed for next Tuesday evening at the Opera House. Subject: "The Liberty of Man, Woman, and Child." The public schools open on Tuesday next, by which time the boys and girls ought to have done with their holiday fun. Do not expect a timely report: that cutter given to Rev. Father De Rover, pastor of St. John's Church, Ypsilanti, on Christmas. Honorable Anthony, at the toll-gate on the road, had a family reunion on Christmas, and gathered in sixty relatives. Josh Billings is to lecture at Manchester on Monday evening next, January 7. He is a humorous fellow, but a terrible bad speaker (see notice).

From James R. Osgood & Co., Boston, through their local agents, Douglas & Co., we have received several copies of their heliotype pictures. The heliotype is the result of a combination of the photographer's graver, and printer's art. In the photograph, after the sun has taken the first picture or negative each successive copy is made by the sun, and it is therefore a sun print. The process in the production of the heliotype picture is to photograph it upon a prepared gelatin plate instead of upon a metal plate. This gelatin plate is then exposed to the sun's rays and a plate is used for the printer's use, without graver or tool, and from which impressions are made. The heliotype is made perfectly by the ordinary process of printing. The copy produced is necessarily a perfect copy, more perfect than can be produced by the graver upon wood or metal, for the sun artist transfers every line, each light and shade, as mortal hand cannot. By this process, also, the production of fine pictures is so cheapened that copies of the "Old Masters," as well as of modern paintings, are within the reach of the ordinary lover of the beautiful, and may be found in the homes of the poor—not hatched engravings or mere duds, but pictures as perfect as those which have heretofore adorned only the walls of the rich. Douglas & Co. have a large invoice of heliotypes at the publishers' price, $1 each. Go and see them. From Baker, Davis & Co., Philadelphia, we have eight more numbers (49-56) of the new and revised edition of Zeller's Encyclopedia, which is justly styled by editor and publishers as the dictionary of history, biography, science, arts, and languages. The numbers before us include the alphabet from "Physique" to "Spectacle," the new matter being given in a supplement to each letter. Some of the leading articles are the Several Pops, Pias, Platinum, Fiat, Presbyterian, Printing, Psychic Force, Railroad, Rhine, Rife, Roman Architecture, Roman Catholic Church, Rome, Russia, Sculpture, Silk, Silver, Slavery, Soul, and Spain. Immense biographical sketches, such as the pages: The maps given are: Scotland, India, Afghanistan, Balauchistan, Burma, and Siam; and Ireland, and they are the largest and finest maps found in any Encyclopedia. To be completed in 64 parts at 50 cents each. The sermon of Henry Ward Beecher on the subject of future rewards and punishments, concerning which there has been no little misrepresentation, is published in full in the Christian Union (New York) of December 26. It is entitled, "The Background of Mystery." We have received several numbers of the Day City and Observer, a spicy little sheet in the publication of which we wish Bro. McMillan and his partner abundant fame and fortune. The publishers of the Atlantic Monthly have purchased the subscription of the Galaxy and the latter magazine is to be merged into the former.

REDEMBTIONS.—Ald. Bower is announced to address the Dexter Reform Club on Sunday evening next.—Prof. S. A. Jones, of the Homeopathic Medical College, will address the Reform Club on Sunday evening next.—The Free Press says: "The address of Robert E. Eraser, of Ann Arbor, before the Reform Club Sunday evening was an eloquent one and well received."—At the meeting of the Woman's Christian Association, held at the reading room of the Reform Club on Saturday afternoon last, Mrs. Benjamin Day and Mrs. R. A. Beal were elected delegates to the District convention to be held at Monroe yesterday and to-day.—There was a large gathering at the Opera House on Sunday afternoon last. Mr. Griffith, of Battle Creek, failed to appear, and Mrs. Mary E. Foster, of this city, was left mistress of ceremonies. She read the scriptures, made the prayer, and then gave the address of the day.—The ladies of the Christian Temperance Union kept "open house" at the Reform Club on Sunday afternoon last. They were there to call on the members, in fact that they entertained over one thousand, giving each a good dinner. A number of the ladies, inspired by good resolutions by their hospitable hosts, signed the pledge. May they keep it.—The Ypsilanti Reform Club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Daniel A. Wise; Vice-Presidents, Prescott Skinner, Samuel Vaughn, John Wenden; Secretary, C. L. Woodruff; Financial Secretary, William Vanmeter; Treasurer, William Roberts; Steward, John W. Reeves, Smith Stobbs; for which list we draw on the Leader.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.—Judge Cooley will go to Baltimore the last week in February, to give five lectures on the constitutional amendments which grew out of the rebellion; in John Hopkins' University.—President Angell has gone to Cincinnati to give a course of lectures at Cincinnati College—six at this visit and six at a later date. Subject: Political Philosophy, or the Elements of the Christian State. Dates and subject.—Exercises in the several departments of the University will be resumed on Monday next.—Dr. Cooker and Judge Cooley are each writing an article for the forthcoming number of the Princeton Review—the stated old Presbyterian quarterly. A "new departure" that's a fact.—At the recent session of the State Teachers' Association, held at East Saginaw, Prof. Olney was elected President for the ensuing year.—Prof. Denison read a paper at the State Teachers' Association last week, on "The Study of Biography, its Bearing on the Teachers' Work."—On Monday evening, Dec. 26, a party of students of the Homeopathic Medical College made a "surprise" call upon Prof. Gleitsner; he was "highly entertained by the Dr. and his wife, and report a good time.

THE CHURCHES.—"New Year is at the door, come settle your bill": that was the subject of the sermon at the Baptist Church in Manchester on Sunday evening last. We hope that a number of Anous delinquents heard it.—Rev. Richard Cordley, of Flint, is to preach in the Congregational Church in Webster on Sunday next.—On Sunday last the Temperance Society of St. Thomas Church received the holy Communion, and in the evening a 650 check from Father Van Erp.—The holiday festival of the Sunday School connected with St. Andrew's Church was held on Friday evening last, and a good time reported.—"The Week of Prayer" will be observed by the several churches of this city, recognizing the Evangelical Alliance, commencing on Sunday next with services in the several churches. Each week day afternoon (Monday and Saturday excepted) at 3 o'clock, sermons will be held alternately in the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches, and each evening in the several churches separately. The programme of subjects was received too late for insertion.—On Sunday evening next Rev. J. H. Allen, of Cambridge, Mass., who has been for some months supplying the pulpit of the Unitarian Church, will commence a series of discourses on "Orthodoxy," the dates and subjects of which will be as follows: 1. January 6, "Introductory: 'What is Orthodoxy?'" 2. January 13, "General Objects." 3. January 20, "The Trinity." 4. January 27, "The Deity of Christ." 5. February 3, "The Vicarious Atonement." 6. February 10, "Depravity of Human Nature." 7. February 17, "Eternal Punishment." 8. February 24, "Eschatology." 9. March 3, "Orthodoxy as It Was and as It Is." 10. March 10, "Liberal Christianity."—The subject for the Bible class at the Unitarian Church at 9:30 a. m. next Sunday, is the "Three Schools of Christian Doctrine."

The following fellows: Watson Lawford No. 1, G. O. F., had an election on Friday evening last, resulting as follows: N. G. Macrae; P. G., John D. Vance; R. S., J. S. Sprague; Y. S., Conrad Krapp; Treasurer, Charles Spoor; Representatives to Grand Lodge, D. Cramer.—We are wanting money to pay our Taxes by the "Waters" supply of wood, and meet first of January bills. Will not our subscribers and other patrons help us now?—MARRIED.—BOOTH-SHEPARD—Dec. 31, 1877, at the M. E. parsonage, Ann Arbor, by Rev. R. B. Pope, Mr. McMASTER, of the Michigan Argus, and Miss SHEPARD, of Stratford, Canada. FAIRCHILD-MERIBREW—Jan. 1, 1878, at the residence of the bride, Mrs. Mary Benson, in the city of Ann Arbor, by Rev. R. B. Pope, Mr. P. C. FAIRCHILD, of M. E. Pleasant, and Miss MARY C. MERIBREW, of Superior, Wis.—DIED.—DARROW—At Grand Rapids on the 16th ult., Mrs. A. M. DARROW, wife of H. DARROW, Esq., aged twenty-nine years. McMASTER—On Tuesday morning, December 28, in the fifty-first year of age, Mary Benson, wife of James D. McMASTER, and sister of John D. McMASTER, of Ann Arbor, County, New York, from which place she removed with her husband in 1856 to make a new home in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, died on Monday, January 1, 1878, at the residence of her husband, in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, at the age of 51 years. She was a native of New York, and was well known to many as one of friendship and generous hospitality. Very many who read these lines will recall to mind the cheerful manner in which she always welcomed them under that hospitable roof. About ten years ago, by an accident, she received a severe injury to her right arm, which developed into an incurable disease, and caused continual pain at times intense suffering. She bore her affliction with marked patience and cheerfulness, and a fortitude seldom equalled. No effort of the skillful physician and surgery could cure it, and all the tender care and attention of her husband, devoted sister, and friends, could not allay her sufferings, nor the progress of the disease. In the early morning of Christmas day her Christian spirit passed away and her body was laid in its last resting place. Her funeral was held on Wednesday evening, January 2, at 7 o'clock, at the residence of her husband, in the city of Ann Arbor, Michigan, by Rev. R. B. Pope, pastor of the Baptist Church, in the presence of a large number of friends and neighbors. Her husband, James D. McMASTER, is a member of the true friend, the kind and generous neighbor who has passed beyond the earthly vale of life. C. O.
