The harvest comes, and all our fields are weighed down with splendor. The seasons have been more than fair. And nature more than tender.

OUR ARCHERY CLUB.

When an archery club was formed in our village, I was among the first to join it; but I should not, on this account, claim any extraordinary enthusiasm on the subject of archery.

Milking.

The faster and more gentle a cow is milked, the greater will be the amount given.

Our Archery Club (continued).

Pepton first hung his bow in the hall, but after he had arranged it symmetrically upon two long nails (bound with green worsted, lest they should scratch the bow through its woollen cover), he reflected that the front door would frequently be open, and that damp draughts must often come through the hall.

It is about archery, that we must be understood to be a craze. Pepton actually did try to teach her how to aim, but the various methods of pointing the arrow which he suggested resulted in such wild shooting.

At another time, in the heat of the battle of Chattanooga, General Bragg declined to follow up his advantage. The enemy rallied, re-formed, and dragged was driven back to Missionary Ridge.

It would be interesting to know exactly how the accounts of the nation stand. Mr. Sherman occasionally discharges a quantity of financial statistics at the public, in forms suited to his own convenience and calculated to further his designs.

Goulding of Toledo, the well known temperance orator, will, at the close of the Reform Club social this evening, present the beautiful and effective Biblical tableaux entitled "The Refugee," or "Simply to the Cross I Cling," illuminated by a powerful calcium light. This tableau is pronounced by the press, public and clergy to be the most effective ever presented to an audience, and is offered in addition to the very unusually attractive programme for the evening. The first public appearance of the Ann Arbor City Band will be made at this entertainment. Price of admission 10 cents. The following bridesmaids assisted at the marriage of Miss Mary Muehling on Thursday evening of last week: Miss Nellie Seywert of Cleveland, O., Miss Jennie Jolly of this city and Miss Rose Buoff of Detroit; groomsmen, Mr. Ralph Phelps of Detroit, Mr. D. The reception at the residence of the bride's mother on Main street was attended by 100 of the intimate friends of the bride. The house was beautifully trimmed with evergreens, and the front yard was illuminated with Chinese lanterns.

Conrad Schneider has purchased the house on the corner of Main and Packard streets for $1,000. The speaker for Sunday evening's meeting at the Opera House is S. W. Sample of Grand Haven. Adjoined Railroad Meeting. As per adjournment the friends of the extension of the T. and A. A. Railroad met at the court house on Friday evening; James B. Gott, Esq., was called to the chair; upon assuming which he related to the large audience present the conditions demanded by Mr. Alley, before completing the road to Pontiac.—These are the raising of $1000 per mile and securing right of way. Parties said the speaker, from Ypsilanti in the interest of the Detroit and Hillsdale road opposed our project and endeavored to secure the location via Ypsilanti. But a letter from that gentleman stated that if we complied with the conditions, viz: Raising the required amount and obtaining right of way by Sept. 1, he would build the road to Pontiac via Ann Arbor. Mr. Gott called upon Col. Dean, as chairman for his report of the committee appointed at the original meeting, as to what its members had accomplished. It was as follows: ANN ARBOR, Aug. 15, 1879. Mr. Chairman and Fellow-Citizens: Your committee appointed last Friday evening for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions to raise the additional $8000 required from Ann Arbor to secure the construction of a R. R. from this place to Pontiac have directed me to report the result of their week's work. Your committee have worked faithfully and have to report that they have secured subscriptions including those made at our last meeting from the people of Ann Arbor and immediate vicinity amounting to $3,988 which is $2,112 less than the sum required of Ann Arbor. In addition to the above amount your committee have secured subscriptions from farmers residing along the line of the way, outside of Ann Arbor, amounting to $840, making a total of $4,828 as the result of your committee's work, all of which is respectfully submitted. Mr. Hamilton was happy to observe so large a gathering present. This enterprise said he, is your enterprise. Our interests are identical. We have advantages of being the county seat, the focus of learning, as well as in other things. If we had not put in some hard work these advantages would not be ours at this time. All know with what labor the court house was finally secured.—This spirit of enterprise must not be permitted to suffer for the want of it.—Each can do a little. The committee are worn out. We must raise more money this evening. Col. Dean wanted two minutes to say something. He wanted to address each person present individually. He had asked every man in the city to subscribe. If the road is secured, it can be credited to six men, all of whom had given more time and money than they could afford. Let this road go to the east of us, our property will in common suffer. We can not, must not, lose it. Gen. Clark, poor as he is, by a process of oral addition and subtraction proved how the road had already saved him $33 in two years, by reduction of price of coal. He put his autograph to $5 note and, in a short speech counseled others to do likewise, though amounts were small. Called upon by the chairman, Dr. Knapp of South Lyon said he hadn't much enthusiasm this evening for it had been spent along the line. What he and others wanted to aid them in his section were a few of the best solicitors of this city. Rev. Mr. Sunderland asserted he didn't have much money now, nor did he ever expect to have. Visiting the east lately he learned how a city made a mistake in not securing a railroad within its grasp, and, at this date with towns rivaling it, her citizens are now mourning over what it might have been. Our case is precisely similar. He had $25 in his pockets that was burning for this project. Several hundreds of dollars were subscribed at this moment when alderman Hatzel arose and proposed to be one of fifteen who would guaranty to raise $100 each, and settle this job here and now. One and another volunteered until the number secured. In a very happy frame of mind the meeting adjourned to Friday evening one week hence. Real Estate Transfers. WARRANTY. Gottlob Leyer to Wm. F. Almost every issue of the Enterprise contains thanks to the ladies of Manchester for this and that. Kuhl of Sharon, supposed to contain a tramp at the time of its burning, proves there was neither flesh nor bone in the sample. Adams.—Case comes off on Tuesday next before Justice H. B. Daily. By our new system of mailing each subscriber can see for himself or herself to what time payment has been made. It is an improvement in mailing contemplated for months, but have been unable to reach it until now. As Mrs. J. J. Stephenson was sitting in her carriage Saturday evening, waiting for her husband, who had stepped into a store on Congress street, a man named Martin Perou, backed his team until his wagon, loaded with lumber, overturned the lady's buggy, throwing her to the pavement with great force. Mrs. S. was hurt seriously, the fall spraining her ankle and otherwise bruising and shocking her. Her horse broke away and ran half a block with the vehicle upon its side when the animal was stopped. Without a word or stopping to see the extent of injuries resulting, Perou drove off. The accident was caused by sheer carelessness, as the full street was between the teams, and there was no need of backing so far. Mrs. Stephenson is recovering, but several weeks must elapse before she will be able to walk. The buggy was badly broken.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

Monday morning a fire broke out at the residence of John B. Smith of Ypsilanti. Being of wood, and so far from the engine house, it was consumed before the arrival of the steamer. The loss of the furniture was burned. The loss will probably be about $1,000; insured for $150. This will be a heavy loss for Mr. Smith, as he is quite old and badly crippled. Death of Mrs. George Johnson of Lodi. The death by drowning of Mrs. Eliza A., wife of George Johnson of Lodi, on Monday, is a sad bereavement to a loving husband and daughter. The Saline river runs through the farm of her husband, and to it she repaired at about half past ten to gather leaf-mould with which to re-peat some house plants.—About thirty minutes later Mr. Johnson came into the house (absent at the time Mrs. J. left) and inquiring of the servant girl where Mrs. J. was, and upon being informed said: "I will go and carry it up for her," starting for the woods under similar errands. First discovering the cape of her bonnet floating on the river little did he dream of soon finding her lifeless body in about four feet of water. Attempts of resuscitation proved unavailing. A jury was impaneled under direction of Justice Goodrich, and after due deliberation a verdict of death by accidental drowning was rendered. Mrs. Johnson's age was about 36.—She was a lady of culture and surrounded with everything calculated to make life pleasant. The pride of an admiring husband, the kind mother of an only child in whom the hopes of both centered, she has gone to an untimely grave. It is a sad sight to see an intoxicated person on the street. How much so it is to see a dull and sickly baby rendered so by the use of dangerous opiates? Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup contains nothing injurious and may be given to the most delicate baby.

Vicinity. "Kalamazuu" is good, and will stick. The Cold-water Republican advocates buttermilk as a beverage. While pulling weeds in a garden, Fred Hurlbutt of Norwalk was bitten by a snake. Loren Keep, while threshing at his residence in Clarndon, fell from the scaffold, running his arm into the cylinder and sustained injuries necessitating its amputation. Nichols & Shepard of Battle Creek, have manufactured a threshing machine engine which runs with the use of straw for fuel. About 100 pounds of straw will thresh 100 bushels of wheat. Burglars made a raid on the quiet village of Holly last Friday night, visited eight houses and places of business, taking silverware, watches, money, anything and everything, and got off scot free. Y., killed a man with a hay-rake a few years ago, and, after trial, acquitted on the ground of self-defense. In 1877 twenty thousand young white fish and thirty thousand eels were deposited in Grass Lake, but no traces of the former have ever been seen and it is supposed that the water was either too impure for them to exist in, or they were destroyed by other fish. The eels, however, seem to do well and several two feet in length have been caught and many others seen during the present summer. The frost of Saturday night cut corn and potatoes in Lansing and surrounding townships badly. There is scarcely a piece of either within a radius of four miles that is not injured to some extent, potato-tops in many instances being cut to the ground. Hine of the Lowell Journal, in a half column of sound advice to young men, says: "Smoke less, drive less, dress no better than your employers, don't buy what you don't need, be steady and reliable, and keep a curb bit on until your habits and character are firmly established. If you will do this for ten years from now, you will be a man of influence and standing and can afford the luxuries your seniors are able to have and enjoy. If you don't ten years hence you will be worse off than you are now, with no credit, no influence, no money, no friends."
