

Music In the Corner of the Earth

When the 3 left, the land was left bare. All the Colors, Sounds, and Magic was sucked out of the world nothing was left. I search the to see if there is any music left. Others see if there is color or magic. but music is the hardest. I climb the mountain that was once Mount Everest. Once beautiful and standing out above the rest. But now gray and lifeless. As I climb something flickers in the cave above me. It must be another Finder. When I get up there. There is a fire and a sleeping bag. I look on the wall there are pictures. That's weird most Finders don't have families. As I see a boy and a Man smiling at me. "Finally some one!" Someone shouts. As I pull out my spear. A tall and skinny woman came out of the shadows. She screams at my uniform and starts running. "Stay away!"she said panting running deeper into the cave. Then all is still. Then I hear a sound it sounds like all the sorrows of the world. This is singing. I remember in Detroit many tried to sing but failed. Music is back!