The star of three Robert Altman films (M*A*S*H, The Long Goodby, and California Split) plus a cameo role in "Nashville", Gould achieved identity as an actor as the burlesque impresario Billy Minsky in "The Night They Raided Minsky's"; he then went on to earn an Academy Award nomination for his role of Ted in "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" and was immediately rushed into Altman's "M*A*S*H". Elliot Gould has starred in "Getting Straight", "I Love My Wife", "Little Murders", "Move", "The Touch" and "Harry and Walter Go to New York".
